Chips

Dioegenes could have extinguished his lantern had he met the man who wrote copy for the posters advertising the Vod-Vil. This unknown person, forecasting the event as the World's Worst Show was right. It was just that.

It was so bad that even the fireman watching to prevent fire from the co-eds' cigarettes back stage, left at the end of three acts. The least said about the whole thing, the better, but our sympathy goes out to the judges who were forced to sit through the remaining eleven acts. George Washington is blessed with a strong faculty.

A sweet young thing just behind us at the finale of "Sometime Soon" Saturday night chirped to her escort: "I think Wick Jones made the sweetest girl in the Vod-Vil last night." Whereupon her protector, aroused from slumber, replied: "Did he? Who was she?"

Anyhow, it was a large week, and we can now look forward to two weeks' rest until the midnight Mazda (apologies to Dr. Ragatz) is worked overtime in preparation for the final, fatal week of the year, when all professors overestimate just how much a student can write in two hours.

If Dean Doyle lives long enough, and his breath holds out, he may be able to convince the oldest that the younger generation isn't as bad as it might be. But by the time that happy event comes to pass, the younger generation of today will be the oldest of tomorrow. And he'll have to begin all over again. What's the use?

A club is formed to dust off the welcome mat and give all visitors the glad hand. The move has our hearty approval, for we are sure that it is in safe hands. All of its members are ex-members or present members of the Interfraternity Council, official rotary club of the school.

The Panhellenic Council, with its decision to hold off on rushing and pledging freshmen women is showing much common sense, and is setting a precedent which the Interfraternity Council might well follow. By deferring rushing and pledging until the second semester, fewer mistakes will be made by both freshmen and fraternities. The day of the "sand-bag," the "midnight smoker," the early morning visits by anxious brethren, and all the other devices that cause a fraternity or a freshman to pledge in haste and repent at leisure, is doomed, with such a rule in effect.

District of Columbia college publication folk get together in a conference and find that there isn't so much difference between schools as a whole, after all. George Washington was progressive enough to suggest and call the conference, but all five other schools insisted that the group meet at their respective institutions next. The name of Georgetown was drawn from a hat, so the conference next fall will go there.

Then a Georgetown man and a George Washington man were nominated for temporary chairman. Georgetown voted for George Washington, and George Washington voted for Georgetown. That's better spirit than we have seen on many, many athletic fields.

College newspapers and other publications will ultimately demand better sportsmanship between colleges here. And when the college press takes this stand, the result will be that other undertakings attempted by college papers—it will come to pass.

The Hatchet Twins, Kreglow and Angel, continue in office for another year as Business Manager and Chairman of the Board, respectively. Like Chesterfield cigarettes, nothing stops 'em. And Betsy Booth will keep the records for another year, if any.

Sunday night, after most of the paper was written and edited, the old and new Boards of Editors left us pecking at our trusty typewriter, and went to the Embassy to celebrate. It is reported that this wild party did not break up until nearly midnight.

After looking over the rotogravure section, however, we believe that they are entitled to celebrate. The old Board has been dodging brickbats all year, so we suggest that if you like the roto supplement, you should send in an applause card like the radio announcer requests.

We don't know yet whether or not the new Board of Editors will allow us to write for this sheet next issue or not. If they want us, we may write until they find some other, half-wit who is foolish enough to try to be wise about campus events.

We may or may not see you again.
DICK ROLLO.

COLONIAL CLUB IS FORMED TO GREET VISITORS TO G. W.

To be Entirely Separate From Any Other Student Organization at the University

FOUR CHARTER MEMBERS; KAYSER TO BE ADVISER

Club Plans To Meet Those Coming in Connection with Games, Conventions and Meetings

Entirely new in the form of organizations at George Washington University is the proposed establishment of the Colonial Club, which has as its purpose the fostering of a spirit of welcome to the various organizations, teams and prominent visitors to the University, and the promotion of the social life throughout the institution.

A long-felt need will be filled with the functioning of the Colonial Club in its capacity as a definite campus group which can be depended upon to serve as a representative body to the many guests who come to the University every year in connection with games, conventions and meetings.

The Colonial Club will be a separate and distinct body of students in no way connected with any student organizations now connected with the University in official capacities. Self-support and self-perpetuation will be the aim of this group, so that there will be no dependence upon University resources for the carrying out of its program.

To Promote Social Events

It is planned to secure advance information at the beginning of each year relative to the various teams and delegations which expect to visit George Washington during the year. Arrangements will then be made to assure them of a welcome worthy of the University. In addition to this program of greeting, it is planned to outline a series of social events throughout the year, which will be varied so as to interest practically every student in the University in one event or the other.

Will Meet Pixie

James E. Pixie, newly appointed athletic director of George Washington, who is expected to pay his first visit to the University about May 21, will be the first guest to be welcomed by the Colonial Club. Arrangements have already been made for Coach Pixie to stay at the Acacia house during his visit.

Henry William Herzog, Lyman Dishman, George von Dachenhausen and Don Iglehart comprise the charter membership of the Colonial Club. Feeling that a small group can be depended upon to carry out the work of such an organization, the charter membership has been held, to four students who in the past have proven their willingness to further University interests. Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, Secretary of the University, has agreed to act as faculty adviser to the Colonial Club.

LAW PROF LEAVES FOR POSITION AT CORNELL

Professor H. W. Edgerton Appointed To Faculty of Cornell University Law School

Professor Henry White Edgerton of the Law Faculty of George Washington University has resigned his position at the University and has been appointed to the faculty of the Cornell University Law School, beginning the academic year 1929-30, according to a recent announcement.

Professor Edgerton is a graduate of Cornell University with the Bachelor of Arts degree and of Harvard University with the Bachelor of Laws degree. He was on the staff of Cornell University as assistant professor of law from 1916 to 1919. Since 1921 he has been a member of the faculty of the George Washington University Law School and has taught classes in Corporations, Equity III, Legal Liability, Public Utilities, Quasi Contracts and Torts. During the present academic year he is on leave of absence and is Visiting Professor of Law at the University of Chicago Law School where he is giving courses in Equity II, Public Utilities and Torts.

In addition to his regular teaching schedule while professor of law at George Washington, Mr. Edgerton has contributed extensively to various legal periodicals. Some of his leading articles are, "Legal Cause" which appeared in the March and May, 1924, numbers of the Pennsylvania Law Review; "Corporate Criminal Responsibility" published in the April, 1927, number of the Yale Law Journal and "Negligence, Inadvertence and Indifference; The Relation of Mental States to Negligence," in the May, 1926, number of the Harvard Law Review. These articles have been frequently cited and commented favorably upon in reviews and in articles written by other contributors to the law journals.

Reporter Digs Up First Issue Of Hatchet to Learn of Old College Styles and Customs

Back in the days when suits were sponged and pressed for 15 cents, Prince Alberts made to order cost $13.55, opera hats sold for $2, shoes were called boots, photos were tin-types, Blackstone advertised flowers at special rates to students, and such shows were being played as "The Curse of Drink," "Busy Izzy," "Only a Shop Girl," and "Child Slaves of New York," there was a "published in the interests of the George Washington University" on October 5, 1904, the first number of the "University Hatchet."

A 26 page magazine, printed on strong paper with a bright and artistic cover, carrying news items, editorials, fraternity and medical notes. Theater reviews were short and to the point, as this typical example: No Wedding Bells for Her, at the Academy, is a melodrama of extraordinary thrilling type. Clothing advertisements are plentiful. One reads such names familiar today as D. J. Kaufman, J. C. Wineman, Parker & Bridget, George & Co., and Philip T. Hall, shirtmaker.

Men wore button shoes, cuffless trousers, and heavily padded coats; women, fluffy blouses, long skirts and hair ribbons.

Sophists tied the hands and feet of freshmen and paraded them over town "just to show off their greenness." Dean Wilbur addressed the assembled school at the opening exercises of the year on "College Education."

Previous to the Hatchet the Weekly Columbian was published. In 1904 the University changed its name from Columbian College and the necessity for a new periodical became apparent.

Debating notes covered as much space as football. Questions debated were "Resolved, That a man should vote the Republican ticket because it is the best party." "Resolved, That the doctrines and principles advocated by the Democratic party adhere more closely to our Federal Constitution than those of any other party."

NEW RUSH RULES ARE ANNOUNCED

G. W. Panhellenic Association to Try Second Semester Rushing and Pledging

PLAN FROSH EDUCATION

Rushing From February 16 to 25; All Final Parties to be Night of February 25

The Panhellenic Association at the meeting held Tuesday, May 7, passed the rules governing rushing for the school year 1929-30. Second semester rushing and pledging, which is very different from the present year's plan, is to be tried.

The rules are as follows: The Little Sister Movement will be carried on as usual and no pins will be worn during this period.

Restrictions on First Period With the end of the Little Sister movement, there will be free intercourse between the sorority girls and the freshmen with the restrictions that freshmen may not be taken to the sorority rooms or to the homes of the girls and that no money shall be spent on them.

Rushing will begin on February 16, 1930, and this day will be held open for teas. February 17, 18, 19 and 20 will be observed as closed dates for the sororities, the dates being chosen by scholastic preference. February 21, 22, 23 and 24 will be open for rushing by everyone.

On February 25, each sorority will have its final party from 7 until midnight. Invitations to the final party must be in the hands of the Panhellenic committee by Monday, February 24, at ten o'clock, and they will be given to the freshmen at a Panhellenic post office, which will be situated on the campus. The reply to the invitation must be returned to the Panhellenic post office by ten o'clock Tuesday, February 25.

Financial Limit A financial limit of $150 had been placed.

A plan for freshmen education is being considered by the Panhellenic Association. The plan is to divide the freshmen girls into groups of 10 each, add to have a sorority girl at the head of each group, which will meet once every two weeks to discuss sororities in general. One girl from each sorority will be chosen by the sorority and the other nine will be selected at large by the Panhellenic Committee.

It is hoped to have a printed pamphlet on the Panhellenic Association and sororities to be given the freshmen at matriculation.

A mass meeting will be held for the sorority girls during the first week of school to explain the rush rules for the coming year.

CHEST DIRECTOR IS ADDED

Will Lecture on Social Work; Willard Will Become New Associate Professor

Recognizing the need of presenting the opportunity for students to gain an understanding of modern social problems, the George Washington University will expand its sociology department to include sociological study in its civic applications, according to plans just announced by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin.

Two new members have been added to the staff of the department. Dudley Wilson Willard, formerly head of the sociology department of Clark University, has been appointed associate professor of sociology, and Ellwood Street, director of the Washington Community Chest, will act as lecturer in sociology.

Mr. Street, who has had wide experience in social service work, will give two courses, one in the administration of social work and one in the history of social work.

Complete Course Planned

The course on the administration of social work will include lectures, reading, discussion and observation and report on procedure of Washington social agencies, in respect to legal organization, committee management, make-up of boards of directors, employment principles, personnel practice, office arrangement and equipment, office and personal efficiency, publicity, finance, agency relationships and community contacts. The course will be given from 7 to 9 p. m. on Monday in the first semester.

The course in the history of social work will cover the development of charity and social work from earliest recorded times. The history of the charities of Washington will be used to illustrate the kind of progress in charitable development which has been made in practically all American cities. Mr. Street, a graduate of Western Reserve University, holds the degree of master of arts from the University of Louisville. COLLEGE PAPERS IN DISTRICT FORM NEW PRESS BODY

District of Columbia Collegiate Press Conference Organized Under G. W. Auspices

LUDLOW AND OULAHAN ADDRESS JOURNALISTS

Herbert Angel Presides; J. Brunini Elected Chairman Pending Drafting of Constitution

The District of Columbia Collegiate Press Conference, an association of local and nearby college publications, was organized Saturday, May 11, by the representatives of 16 journals meeting in an all-day round-table conference held under the auspices of George Washington University at the invitation of The University Hatchet.

Representative Louis A. Ludlow of Indiana, former president of the National Press Club, and Richard V. Oulahan, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, addressed the conference at its morning session. Herbert E. Angel, Chairman of The Hatchet editorial board, presided.

The newly formed conference will have for its purpose the general improvement of the tone of the associated publications, and will seek to bring about an exchange of news matter. Further plans will be completed at the next meeting of the conference in late October or November.

Chairman Chosen

Joseph Brunini, editor of Georgetown University's newspaper, The Hoya, was chosen temporary chairman of the conference when his school was determined by lots as the scene of the next session. Mr. Brunini will serve as chairman until a constitution can be written and permanent officers elected.

Although a definite constitution was not drawn up, it was agreed that votes in the conference shall be cast in the names of the institutions themselves.

Departure from standardization through syndication of newspapers was advocated and the abandonment of commercializing as the sole motive of publishing was urged by Louis Ludlow in his address. The coming of material prosperity to the press has been accompanied by the passing of the personal equation from the editorial page, and in place of famous editors we now have great publishers, Mr. Ludlow declared.

Responsibility Described

Mr. Oulahan told the student editors that the best way to start in journalism is at the bottom, keeping in mind that no matter how low the work may be, a great responsibility attaches to it. "The man or woman who writes for the press, no matter if his work is only routine is certain to affect the thought and history of the time," Mr. Oulahan stated.

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin was host at luncheon to the publications representatives at the Cosmos Club.

The publications which were represented in the conference were The Hatchet, the Cherry Tree, the Wig, and the Ghost of George Washington University; the American Eagle and the Acolia of American University; the Hoya, the Georgetown College Journal and the Doomsday Book of Georgetown University; the Trinity Times, the Trinitique, and the Record of Trinity College; The Tower, the Cardinal and as yet unnamed publication which will be inaugurated next fall at Catholic University; and the Diamond Back and the Revellie of the University of Maryland.

ALUMNI IN CALIFORNIA HOLD LARGE MEETING

The George Washington University Alumni Club of Southern California held a large and enthusiastic meeting at the Masonic Club in Los Angeles on February 21.

D. J. Keleher is President of the Club and Mrs. David Ransome-Covell is secretary.

GLEE CLUB TO ELECT

The George Washington University Women's Glee Club season has closed. There will be only one more meeting this year which will be held the latter part of May to elect officers and award pins to members who are eligible to receive them.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1929

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

With this souvenir issue, going to all George Washington students and nearly ten thousand alumni, The University Hatchet celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding in 1904.

The retiring Board of Editors, publishing its last issue of the publication on which it has worked for three or four years, regrets that its day of editorship has passed on to others. It is proud, however, of this Silver Anniversary Number, with its rotogravure section, the first of its kind in the history of The Hatchet. It wishes to thank specifically the Administration, The Cherry Tree, The Washington Post, The Washington Times-Herald, The Washington News, and The Evening Star, for their cooperation in the matter of securing or lending photographs for this issue.

Thus ends the first quarter century of the life of The Hatchet.

REAL STUDENT ACTIVITY

The amount and intensity of student interest is the true test of the value of any particular activity. With this as a measure the Troubadour organization, which presents an annual musical comedy show, deserves a great amount of credit.

Almost three hundred George Washington University students demonstrated their vital interest in the activities of this body by applying for positions. Over one hundred of this whole number found active service during the six weeks of preparation, and the members of the production staff were actively engaged during the course of the entire school year, producing splendid results under the greatest possible difficulties. Not only is great interest indicated by the large number who take part in the production, but it is further displayed by the fact that the student members of the production staff underwrite the financial success of the enterprise. The fact that "Sometime Soon" played to capacity houses for an entire week proves the general interest.

This activity, which is founded on nothing more than student enthusiasm, has grown to be the University's outstanding extra-curricular activity, and the least that can be said is that those who have been responsible for the progress of the organization during the past four years are due not only congratulations but likewise full University recognition and support.

MEMBERS of the Troubadours' cast and many of their friends and acquaintances celebrated the end of a perfect week with a party at the Little Tea House on Saturday night following the show. K. A. WINS TITLE; THETA DELT AND ACACIA TIED IN B

Sigma Chi Forfeits to Give
Kappa Alpha League A Championship

DELTS SURPRISE THETA DELTS IN FEATURE TILT

Theta Delt Turn Tables on Acacia
To Force League B
Tie

Sigma Chi handed Kappa Alpha the championship of League A when they forfeited their final game to the undefeated leaders. With no possibility of the final outcome being altered, the remaining games scheduled will not be played.

Upsetting the undefeated Theta Delt 8 to 6 in the feature game of Sunday's interfraternity baseball schedule, Delta Tau Delta, forced a two-way tie for the leadership of League B. Theta Delt saved themselves, however, later in the day from being forced from the running when they in turn handed Acacia its first beating of the season, 7 to 5.

To complicate matters, the Delt won their second game of the day when they sent Sigma Nu home on the short end of a 13 to 1 score. Having only lost one game and with but one left to play, the Delt also have a chance to become one of the league leaders. Not content with having won two games in one day, they began their third, with S. P. E. late Sunday afternoon, but were rained out shortly after the start.

In the other game of the day, Acacia defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 15 to 9.

Deciding of the tie in League B will not be done until Delta Tau Delta plays its game with S. P. E. If the Delt should win, it will probably take several weeks to play off the three-way tie before the championship game can be played. The game will be played Sunday morning, with a possibility of the Acacia and Theta Delt nines also meeting in their play-off.

The standing in League B including Sunday's games:

	W	L	Pct.
Acacia	4	1	.800
Theta Delta Chi	4	1	.800
Delta Tau Delta	3	1	.750
S. A. E.	2	3	.400
S. P. E.	1	3	.250
Sigma Nu	0	5	.000

The standings of League A were not changed, Kappa Alpha having held the lead and Sigma Chi the cellar position last week.

Denicke Hits Homer

The pitching of Dick Battle featured the Acacia-Theta Delt game, which prior to the defeat of the Theta Delt by the Delt, had been predicted as the outstanding game of the League. Denicke, Theta Delt, also provided a thrill when he drove out a home run in the third inning with two men on base. Battle struck out twelve men to add to his long string.

Behind six runs when they came to bat in the fifth inning, the Delt began a drive which netted them 8 runs in three innings to beat the Theta Delt in the other feature. In the meantime, Harry Ruddiman was pitching fine ball, holding the losers scoreless.

The Sigma Nu-Delt game proved to be a hitting rampage, the losers getting 18 safetys and the winners 17. Dooley, losing pitcher for Sigma Nu, nearly won his own game as he drove out a four-bagger in the third inning with one man on base.

Thompson pitched good ball for the losers in the Acacia-Sig Alpha, striking out nine men, but his teammates were unable to bunch their hits. The winners were able to make their 15 runs with but 11 hits.

Engineers Win 15 to 5

With riotous hitting and strike-out pitching, the baseball team of the G. W. U. Engineers defeated the Pre-Medicals last week by a score of 15-5. Charley Morris starred for the Engineers, striking out nine men in seven innings and amassing three hits from four trips to the plate, one of the blows being for a home run. The Engineers announce their readiness to take on the Varsity, Pharmacists and any other teams in the University.

GOLF TOURNAMENT FOR WOMEN IS UNDER WAY

Scores from the women's annual golf tournament, which has been under way for the past week, have been delayed on account of the inclement weather which has followed in the wake of the tournament.

Every woman enrolled in the golf instruction class is required to turn in her scores for the week, which automatically enters her in the tournament.

The plan for the tournament is to take the sixteen highest scores for the week, and play this group off for the eight highest, then eliminate down to the individual winner.

HARRISONBURG DEFEATS BUFF AND BLUE TEAM, 4-1

George Washington University Loses
First Match in Six Years

George Washington co-eds broke even in this week's tennis matches, conquering the American University tennis team by a score of 4-1, on Wednesday, May 8, and losing to Harrisonburg College on Saturday, May 11, by 1 to 4.

Jeffery Turnbull, of the Buff and Blue team, decisively defeated Kay Severence, crack American University player, 6-0, 6-2. With her usual good form she completely outdid the best efforts of her opponent.

In the second singles match Florence Fellows, of the Methodists, defeated Mary Sprout, of G. W., after a hard three-set battle, in which almost every point was closely contested. The scores were, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 in favor of the A. U. player, who ranked number one on their team last year.

Billie Wright, G. W. captain, won effectively over Bricker of American U., 6-3, 6-3, in a contest which was characterized by Wright's able back court play. Her low, hard drives proved very difficult for her opponent to handle.

Doubles Successful

Butler and Morris easily won their doubles match with Martz and Rice, of the Methodist team, defeating their opponents, 6-1, 6-4.

In the other doubles match, Zimmerman and Crumley of the Colonial team came out ahead by defeating Darby and Chadwick, 6-6, 6-2. Zimmerman played a consistent game, her back-hand drives being especially good, while Crumley put up her usual good game, making several spectacular net shots.

On Saturday, May 11, Harrisonburg College traveled here to wield their rackets to good effect by winning four out of five matches against the George Washington women's tennis team. This is the first time in six years that the G. W. team has been defeated, but the scores show that they were rather evenly matched with their opponents.

Morris Wins Match

Corella Morris, the only G. W. co-ed to win her match, played a good game and added some very keen placements to her usually consistent playing. The match was close, well-played and interesting to watch, ending in a score of 7-5, 7-5.

Turnbull started out in the advantage, and won her first set, 6-4. She displayed her usual perfect form, and the returns on both sides of the net were accomplished with ease and grace. The final score in favor of the visitors' number one player was 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Wright was a little off form, and seemingly disconcerted by the endless returns and hard drives of her opponent. The match went, 6-2, 6-2, in favor of the visitor.

Doubles Are Close

The doubles matches were well-played and very close, both ending in 6-4, 6-3, for Harrisonburg. Morris and Butler were defeated in spite of their good work, and Crumley and Wright, an almost unbeatable combination, were also downed. Crumley played an excellent net game, while Wright relied on hard drives from the back court.

Before the match the visitors were entertained at luncheon by the George Washington tennis squad.

WILSON CAPTURES DIVING

G. W. Takes Four Firsts and Wins
Relay; Harrisonburg Makes
Two Firsts

Winning over the Harrisonburg State Teachers' College by twenty points in the final varsity swimming meet of the season, the George Washington co-ed swimming squad piled up a score of 39 points against the 19 scored by their opponents, on Saturday night, May 11, at the K Street pool.

Wilson of the visiting team was the high point winner of the meet, scoring 10 points by placing first in the 40-yard free style and the fancy diving contest. Kyle of George Washington totalled 9.14 points by carrying off the back stroke race, placing second in the 40-yard free style dash, and swimming on the winning relay team.

Relay Exciting

One of the most exciting events of the meet was the relay, in which the teams were very evenly matched. The G. W. squad managed to keep a few seconds ahead of the Harrisonburg team on every lap, but the visiting swimmer in the last lap nearly caught up with the home team and finished just a split second after them.

George Washington carried off first and second places in the plunge when Morris glided 49 feet 6 inches and Inge Von Lewinski made 46 feet 2 inches.

The 80-yard free style dash was captured by Julia Denning for G. W., after overtaking her opponent, Proctor, who was leading her by half the length of the pool in the second lap.

Kyle Better Record

Bettering her own record for the 40-yard back stroke by one second, Claudia Kyle came in first against Harrisonburg with a time of 30.43 seconds.

DOYLE UPHOLDS MODERN YOUTH AT CONFERENCE

Addresses Convention of Y. M. C. A. Together With Dean Of American U.

SAYS STUDENTS NOT AS JAZZ-MAD AS PICTURED

Colleges Are Partly Responsible For "Erroneous Impressions of Public," According to Dean

Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, in an address to the interstate convention of the Y. M. C. A., of Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, came to the defense of modern youth.

Dean Doyle and Prof. Walton Colcord John, of American University, agreed that the "problem" of youth is as "old as Rome and Greece" and ridiculed charges that boys and girls of today are worse than those of previous generations.

Dean Doyle, whose recent questionnaire to leading colleges indicated that college students are not the jazz-mad persons they are pictured, declared "the worst" he could say of the present generation is "it isn't much better than any generation." The dean ventured the opinion that the bareheaded youths "who drive along F Street in painted flippers" are not college boys, anyway, but "foolish counter jumpers and high school boys who want the girls to think they are collegiate."

Blame on Colleges

Colleges are partly to blame for the "unfair picture" of college students imprinted in the minds of the public, the dean said. He explained that the colleges publish so-called "college comics," which are "two-thirds sex and one-third drinking." The readers should remember that these magazines are "all bunk" and are "caricatures" only, Dr. Doyle stated. Returns from his questionnaire, he said, showed that "college freaks" are few in number.

Dean Doyle listed "seven points" distinguishing modern youth from the older generation. He said the boys and girls of today are "frank, more honest, impatient of restraint, tolerant, studious, liberal and more wholesomely advised on sex matters," as compared with the previous generation.

The frankness, he said, has given them "bad manners," their honesty has made them "disgusted with bunk," their dislike of restraint has led them to abhor "bossing about morals," their tolerance has made them broad-minded toward their fellow man, their craving for knowledge has made them "alive-intellectually," their liberal-mindedness has induced them to take an interest in politics and their sex knowledge has prevented many of them from going wrong.

Duties of Parents

"If fathers," he concluded, "would take more time off from their clubs and if mothers would spend less time at bridge parties fewer children would go wrong. Fathers who entertain their friends with liquor served in their homes cannot expect their boys to abstain from drinking. I'm tired of hearing about the younger generation going to the dogs. If any one's to blame, it's the older generation."

"Chesterfield preferred!"

The story is told that a certain man once importuned a famous financier for a loan involving a considerable amount of money. "I cannot give you the cash," the magnate is said to have replied, "but I'll let you walk arm in arm with me across the floor of the Stock Exchange."

Pardon our enthusiasm, but it's a good deal like that with a man and his cigarette. To be seen smoking a Chesterfield, for example, is to be marked as a gentleman, a scholar, and a judge of good tobacco!

Kentucky Colonel or swashbuckling corporal in the Royal Mounted—Wall Street magnate or dashing cowman of Cheyenne—a Chesterfield smoker is entitled to respect (and yes, even credit!) from his fellows.

Go where you will, you'll find Chesterfield everywhere admitted to the inner circle of those in the know. Such endorsement was earned—by good tobacco and taste—with six million voting.
